Metaserver earns Innovation Prize

NEW HAVEN — Metaserver Inc., an Elm City software developer, has been selected to receive a silver level Innovation Prize from the Connecticut Quality Improvement Awards Partnership.

This is the second straight year that the company has won a CQIA award. Metaserver provides banks and other institutions with systems to allow them to tap the Internet for electronic commerce.

The CQIA Partnership received 110 Innovation Prize applications from 60 organizations statewide this year.
